The PI Development Programme aims to offer professional development opportunities for PIs at all levels of their careers. The Programme is now in its third year and has been commended by external funders as being 'an excellent institutional support scheme for research leaders'.

During 2009-10, the Programme will be offering support to:

- aspiring PIs via the new Grantsmanship series being offered by this Programme – an exciting weekly support scheme working with aspirants from idea to point of submission, with a panel of internal peer reviewers offering advice;
- for mid-career PIs support is offered in skills development for committee skills, editorial responsibilities, interdisciplinary business set-up /growth and widening profiles by outreach and media activities.
- For senior PIs opportunities to experience further leadership and management training is available through current provision sourced from across the University as well as recommended external sources targeted at executive leaders.
